

SDGs Workshop: Climate action achieving SDGs through a dialogue

Naoya Takahashi, The National Museum of Emerging Science and Innovation (Miraikan), Japan

A workshop for school children (10-18 years old) to learn the importance of collaboration between countries to achieve a sustainable, global society. Players will be divided into 5 groups (virtual countries), and try to protect their own country from Hazardous events related to Climate Change. They learn the need to collaborate and negotiate with other countries to solve local problems caused by global problems.
