

The element of ArtScience - ArtScience Museum as an educational environment for open-ended learning

Emma Lee, ArtScience Museum, Singapore

Discover the transformative potential of art and science and explore the opportunities that learning can be facilitated as part of a museum experience. Experience various hands-on activities and how open-ended learning in a museum setting have the potential to ignite visitors' curiosity, boost creative confidence and encourage continual learning when visitors set foot out of the museum.